FALL 2009

As some of you have seen on the Outdoor channel and Sportsman's channel, we are a proud sponsor of Craig Boddington and Ivan Carter on their TV shows. In fact, Brad Eldred, our president, hunted an elephant this past summer with Ivan and was featured on Tracks Across Africa last month.

The days are getting colder, and for us, that means the hunting season is getting closer. In fact, goose season started for us just a few days ago. Speaking of birds, we now have Frank Newmyer on our team. As a ten time world champion, he is THE man when it comes to duck mounts!

Two of our taxidermists, Jay Burggren and Dietrich Thomas just got back from Alaska. Each one took a great Dall sheep. As key members of our team, the more time they spend out in the field hunting and studying the animals they mount, the better their work becomes. Their work is world class.

Business has been very good for us over the summer. We have been working very hard on our systems and are proud to say that currently our turnaround time is 8 to 12 weeks from time of deposit.

Craig Boddington continues to send us some very interesting trophies to mount. One of specific interest has been a record class lord derby eland and some interesting animals from Argentina and Asia.

Ivan Carter now has an office in our facility and is a constant source of excellent reference for African game.

As a result of his photo library and weekly consults with our taxidermists, our African work has improved tremendously. He certainly keeps us all entertained with his antics!

On behalf of my team here at The Wildlife Gallery, we wish you a successful and safe hunting season and we look forward to taking care of your taxidermy needs.

May I also invite you to visit our website that is constantly being updated with photos and information.

Best Regards,

Dan Catlin
Taxidermy Studio Manager
